Heritage Books, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Based on the author s personal collection of original Civil War documents and letters, this volume provides a unique look at the people throughout Maryland who answered the government s call for volunteer recruits in the summer of 1861. Part I is a discussion of the origins of the Brigade, its organization, the process of recruitment, the regimental officers and company commanders. Also included are sketches of the principal persons mentioned. Photographs and inventories of some of the soldiers personal effects add interest to this section. Part V is a comprehensive listing of each person who initially volunteered to serve in the Potomac Home Brigade. They are listed alphabetically by regiment and company. Each person s rank and date of mustering in is also listed. Those interested in determining if an ancestor was one who answered the call will find this section a valuable aid in their genealogical research. In the Afterword the author...
