An audit dinner, mark you, at which even the family woodman, apparently by custom rather than by accident, sits at board with eight hundred years of his family evidences in his breeches pocket. An audit dinner at which the farmers sitting round the marvellous woodman are each and all skilled in palaeography and the necessary Old French and contracted Latin to a degree which enables them to glance through the woodman s evidence on the spot and to pronounce them satisfactory. Sir Edward s account of the audit dinner ends with the story of Allen the woodman, but he wrongs us by his reticence. With gleeful respect we should listen for the outspoken opinion of these hearty Shropshire farmers, warmed with their audit ale, on such vexed questions as that of the Red Book of the...
