Not illustrated. 1918 Excerpt: .on the lower river might seriously handicap the slower development we can expect on the upper river. This situation has led the different states to look with jealous eye upon developments in other states. One of the main purposes of the League of the Southwest is to formulate a plan whereby any legitimate development can proceed upon any section of the river without interference from other sections. At the meeting of the League in Denver on August 28th of this year an Engineering Commission was formed, consisting of the State Engineers or similar officers of the seven states, and the Director and Chief Engineer of the U. S. Reclamation Service. The purpose of this Commission was to consider the possible projects of the different states and report a plan for the best utilization of the waters of the Colorado River System, with due regards to the rights and equities of all the interests involved. The report of this Commission would then form a basis for the consideration of commissioners from each State with the view to entering into a treaty between states. It is believed that only by early agreement between the different parties in interest in the Colorado River Basin can expensive litigation and unsatisfactory solution of the many difficult problems in connection with the use and disposal of the waters of the Colorado be prevented. Cooperation and mutual understandings are the worthy purposes of the League of the Southwest. Northwestern Reclamation League. This League...
